

PvLEA4_k4_sol12_im1.71260244539_en224.434555204
MFQTAADKLAAAKDTVVDTLCSAKDTVKEKVVGAKDATADYLGEEKKEQMRD

The graph illustrates the growth and subsequent decline of the U.S. workforce. The workforce starts at approximately 1.5 million in 1960, rises to a peak of about 6 million in 1970, and then fluctuates between 4 million and 6 million until the late 1980s. After 1990, there is a general downward trend, with the workforce falling to around 1.5 million by 2010.

Year	Number of People (Millions)
1960	1.5
1965	1.5
1970	6.0
1975	4.0
1980	4.0
1985	6.0
1990	5.0
1995	5.0
2000	4.0
2005	2.0
2010	1.5